Sexual Energy Transfers

QUESTIONER: Could you define sexual energy transfer?

RA: Energy transfer implies the release of potential energies across a potentiated space. Sexual energy transfers occur due to the polarizations of two souls, each of which have some potential difference one to the other. The nature of the energy transfer or energy blockage is a function of the interaction of these two potentials. When E transfer takes place, it is like a circuit being closed. In this activity, the Creator is also experiencing Itself.

QUESTIONER: Is this the primary mechanism for the Creator to experience Itself?

RA: It is only one appropriate way of the Creator knowing Itself, for in each interaction, no matter what it is, the Creator is experiencing Itself. However, sexual union between souls has the potential for two advantages.

#1: Firstly, for the green ray activated soul, there is the potential for a direct experience of joy, the metaphysical nature of which [joy] actually exists in intelligent energy [the active part of the Creator]. This is a great aid to comprehending a truer nature of being-ness.

#2: The other potential advantage of sexual union is the possibility of a sacramental understanding or connection with the gateway [R6-R7 energy bridge] to intelligent infinity [the non-active part of the Creator]. With appropriate preparation, work in magic may be done and experiences of intelligent infinity may be had. Positively oriented souls using sexual union to reach intelligent infinity through their seeking or will-power, can direct this infinite intelligence to whatever spiritual work they want to do -- such as the knowledge of service, ability to heal, or whatever other form of service to others they seek.

These are two advantages of sexual union as a means of the Creator experiencing Itself. As we have said before, the value of sexual energy transfer is that it opens the door to an individual soul's desire to serve others in an infinite number of ways, which also helps them continue polarizing towards the positive.

QUESTIONER: Could you explain all the blockages and transfers, positive and negative, in our sexual activity?

RA: This is a more advanced question, but we will give a general answer.

R1. The first energy transfer is red ray [R1: 1st chakra, root center]. It is a random transfer having to do only with your reproductive system.

R2/R3. The orange ray [R2: 2nd chakra, hara or navel center] and yellow ray [R3: 3rd chakra, solar plexus center] attempts to have sexual intercourse create, firstly, energy blockage if only one person vibrates in this area [R2, R3], thus causing that person to have a never-ending appetite for sexual activity. This person is actually seeking green ray activity [R4: 4th chakra, heart-opening].

There is also the possibility of an orange or yellow ray energy transfer; which polarizes both partners towards the negative path. In this transfer, one person is seen as an object rather than seen in love, and the other person sees himself as the plunderer or master of the situation. [This is true S & M!]

R4. In green ray there are two possibilities. Firstly, if both partners vibrate in green ray E, there will be a mutually strengthening energy transfer. In this transfer, the woman will draw E from the roots of her beingness through the chakras, being physically revitalized, and the man will receive inspiration which satisfies and feeds the spirit portion of his body/mind/spirit complex.

Both partners will polarize towards the positive path, and will release the excess of that which each has in abundance -- the woman shares her emotional/intuitive E, and the man shares his vital/physical E. This green ray transfer becomes blocked only if one or both partners have a fear of possession or of being possessed, or a desire to possess or be possessed by their partner.

The other green ray possibility is that of one partner offering love or green ray E, while the other partner does not [due to lower chakra blockages]. This results in further energy blockage for the person who is not offering love, which increases their frustration and sexual appetite. The other person, already offering green ray E, polarizes slightly more towards the positive path of service to others.

R5. The blue ray transfer [R5, throat chakra] is somewhat rare on Earth today, but it is of great aid to spiritual growth. This is because blue ray energy transfer helps partners become more able to express themselves without reservation or fear.

R6/R7. Indigo ray transfer [R6, forehead chakra, the third eye] is extremely rare on Earth today. This is the sacramental portion of the body whereby contact with intelligent infinity [God, the Creator] may be made through activating violet ray [R7, crown chakra]. No sexual energy blockages occur at 6th and 7th chakras, because if either partner has not activated these centers, it is invisible and neither transfer nor blockage takes place.

Child-Bearing and the Spiritual Path

QUESTIONER: In 3rd density, sexual union can also produce a child. What about this?

RA: As we have previously said, sexual energy transfers include the red ray transfer which is random and is a function of the second-density [animal-level] attempt to grow or survive. This is a proper function of sexual interaction. The offspring produced by the fertilization of egg by seed allows another soul to have the opportunity to enter 3D.

This gives the two partners who were engaged in the sexual union, and red-ray transfer, the potential for great service to that other soul, especially through nurturing the child-soul as it gains in experience during its lifetime.

We also want to note that there is always the possibility of using sexual union and the birth of a child to polarize towards the negative, and this [tendency to negative polarity] has been aided by the gradual building up of human social distortions over thousands of years. These social distortions have created great confusion and baffling of the service to others aspect of sexual energy transfer and its opportunities for service to others.

QUESTIONER: If a sexual energy transfer occurs in green ray, does this mean that there is no red ray energy transfer, and therefore no fertilization or birthing of another soul?

RA: This is incorrect. There is always a red ray energy transfer due to the nature of the body. The random result of this energy transfer will be as it will be, and is simply a function of the possibility of fertilization at any given time, in any given pairing of souls.

In terms of green ray transfer, it happens when both partners are not distorted in any vital sense by yellow or orange ray energies [no lower chakra blockages]. Green ray transfer is like a gift given freely, with no payment being requested of either body, mind, or spirit. The green ray is one of complete universality of love: giving without expectation of return.

Magnetic Attraction

QUESTIONER: Would you define the term, “magnetic attraction”?

RA: In human sexual nature there is polarity, which is the male/female condition of each soul being biologically male or female. Magnetic attraction is the magnetism which two souls of male/female polarity experience upon meeting, and thus feeling the attraction of polarized forces.

This is the strength of the [natural] bi-sexual mechanism, and it does not take an act of will to decide to feel attraction for one who is oppositely polarized sexually. It is inevitable, and gives the free flow of E a proper avenue [for expression]. This avenue [of physical sexual union] may be blocked by either person’s belief or mind-condition which does not desire this attraction. However, the basic mechanism [of attraction exerted by sexual polarity] functions as simply as does a magnet and iron.

More on Sexuality and the Chakras

QUESTIONER: What is the difference between orange and yellow ray activation?

RA: The orange ray is that influence or vibratory pattern wherein the person expresses power on an individual basis. The act of power over individuals expresses the orange ray, and this ray has been quite intense in humanity on an individual basis. In this ray [when it is blocked], souls treat others as non-entities, slaves, or chattel, giving others no status.

The yellow ray is a focal [primary] and very powerful ray, and concerns the soul in relation to groups, societies, or large numbers of others. Yellow ray vibration is at the heart of all bellicose actions in which a group feels the necessity and right to dominate other groups, and bend their wills to the will of the masters.

The negative path uses a combination of the yellow and orange rays in its polarization patterns. These rays, used in a dedicated fashion, will bring about contact with intelligent infinity [experience of the Creator, through R6-R7 bridging].

The usual nature of sexual interaction, if only one soul is yellow or orange ray in their primary vibratory patterns, is one of blockage and insatiable hunger due to the blockage. [However], when both partners are vibrating in this area [R2, R3] there is a potential for polarization through the sexual union -- if one person seeks to experience pleasure in humiliation, slavery or bondage, while the other seeks to experience pleasure in mastery and control over their partner. This is a sexual energy transfer of negative polarity.

QUESTIONER: What is the difference between green ray and blue ray?

RA: With green ray energy transfer, you now come to the great turning point sexually, as well as in each other mode of experience. Green ray may be turned outwards, with a soul then giving rather than receiving. The first giving beyond green ray is giving acceptance or freedom, which allows the recipient of the blue ray energy transfer an opportunity to feel being accepted, which frees them to express themselves to their partner.

Once green ray E transfer has been achieved by two souls in union, all further rays [R5, R6, R7] are available without both souls having to progress equally. Thus, a blue ray vibrating entity, or indigo ray vibrating entity whose other ray vibrations are clear, may share that E with their green ray partner, acting as catalyst for their continued learning. However, until that partner reaches green ray, such sexual energy transfer through the [higher] rays is not possible.

QUESTIONER: Would a person who is primarily of green ray activation vary on both sides of green ray in a large or a small amount in regards energy activation, or not?

RA: Green ray activation is always vulnerable to the yellow or orange ray of possession, this being largely yellow ray but often coming into orange ray. Fear of possession, desire for possession, fear of being possessed, desire to be possessed: these are the distortions which will cause the deactivation of green ray [sexual] energy transfer.

But once the green ray has been achieved, the ability of the soul to enter blue ray is immediate and only awaits the efforts of the individual. The indigo ray is opened only through considerable discipline and practice largely having to do with acceptance of self, not only as the polarized and balanced self, but as the Creator, as an entity of infinite worth. This will begin to activate the indigo ray.

QUESTIONER: What is the difference between indigo and blue ray transfer?

RA: Indigo ray is the ray of awareness of the Creator as self; thus souls whose indigo ray vibrations have been activated can offer the E transfer of Creator to Creator. This is the beginning of the sacramental nature of sexual union. It is unique in that it carries the allness, the wholeness, and unity in its offering to other-self.

QUESTIONER: What is the difference between violet ray and the others?

RA: Violet ray, just as red ray, is constant in the sexual union. Its experience by another person may be distorted, completely ignored, or not apprehended. However, the violet ray, being the sum and substance of the mind/body/spirit complex, surrounds and informs any action by a soul in 3rd density.

Sex in Higher Dimensions

QUESTIONER: Do sexual energy transfers like this occur in 5th, 6th, and 7th densities?

RA: The rays, as you understand them, have such a different meaning in higher densities that we must say, “No”. Sexual energy transfers take place in 5th, 6th, and 7th densities, and are still of a polarized nature. However, due to the ability of these densities to see the harmonies between individuals, souls in those densities only choose harmonious mates, allowing constant energy transfer, and propagation of the bodies which each density uses.

The process is different in 5th and 6th density than you understand it, but is still based on polarity. In 7th density there is no sexual energy exchange, as it is unnecessary to recycle physical bodies in this density.

Sex and Wanderers (ET Souls)

QUESTIONER: On Earth today we have 4th, 5th, and 6th density Wanderers. What types of sexual polarization with respect to these various rays affect them?

RA: Fourth-density Wanderers, of which there are not many, tend to choose partners who seem to be full of love or in need of love. There is a great possibility for them to make errors in judgment due to the compassion with which others are viewed.

Fifth-density Wanderers are not tremendously affected by the stimulus of the various rays of others, offers itself in its own way when a need is seen. They are not likely to engage in the human custom of marriage, and are very likely to feel an aversion to childbearing and child-raising. This is due to their awareness of the impropriety of Earth vibrations relative to the harmonious vibrations of the density of light [in contrast to their home 5th density].

Sixth-density Wanderers, whose means of propagation is like “fusion”, are likely to refrain to a great extent from the bisexual reproductive programming of the body [the physical drives]. Instead, they seek out those with whom sexual energy transfer is of a complete fusion nature, in so far as this is possible in 3rd density manifestation.

QUESTIONER: What do you mean by “complete fusion nature?”

RA: The entire creation is of the One Creator. Thus the [human] division of sexual activity into simply that of the body is an artificial division, since all things can be seen as equally sexual -- mind, body, and spirit -- all of which are part of the soul's polarity. Thus "sexual fusion", with or without sexual intercourse, is the complete melding of mind, body, and spirit in what feels to be a constant orgasm of joy and delight in each other's being-ness.

QUESTIONER: Would many Wanderers of [higher] densities have considerable problems with respect to incarnation in 3rd density because of this different orientation?

RA: The possibility and probability of such problems due to 6th density incarnating in 3rd density is rather large. It is not necessarily a problem, if you would call it that. It depends upon the unique orientation of each soul, having [its own] situation or placement of vibratory relativities [7 chakra energy conditions and balances].

The Law of One (vol. III)

Positive and Negative Use of the Chakras

QUESTIONER: It seems that souls upon the positive path, as opposed to those on the negative path, would have precisely the opposite objective in the first three rays; red [R1], orange [R2], and yellow [R3]. Is this correct?

RA: It is correct. There is an E in each of the centers that is needed to keep the total mind/body/spirit, which is your vehicle of experience, in correct condition. Both negative and positive entities should reserve a small portion of each center's E for this kind of maintenance of the integrity of the mind/body/spirit [energy system].

After this point, however, it is correct that the negative path uses the three lower centers for separation from and control over others by sexual means [R1], by personal assertion [R2], and by action in your societies [R3]. The negative polarization does not accept the free will of others, and the free will of negatively oriented entities is bent upon conquest.

Contrary to this, positively oriented souls will be transmuting strong red-ray [R1] sexual energy into green-ray [R4] energy transfers and radiation in blue [R5] and indigo [R6], and will also be transmuting selfhood [R2] and place in society [R3] into E transfer situations in which the entity may merge with and serve others [R4-R5], and then, finally, radiate unto others [R6] without expecting any transfer in return.

Kundalini, Chakras, and Spiritual Work

QUESTIONER: Can you describe the path of the E that enters the E centers from its origin, its form, and its effect?

RA: The origin of all energy is the action of Free Will upon Love. The nature of all E is light. It has two means or points of entry into the mind/body/spirit.

1. Firstly, there is the inner light which is Polaris of the self, the guiding star. This is the birthright and true nature of all entities [Higher Self, God-self]. This energy dwells within.

2. The second point of entry is the polar opposite of this, and may be seen in the physical body magnetic field, as coming in through the feet from the earth and through the lower point of the spine. This universal light E is undifferentiated until it begins a filtering process [upwards] through the [7 major] energy centers. The requirements of each center and the efficiency with which the individual has learned to tap into the inner light determine the nature of the use of these in-streaming energies made by each soul.

QUESTIONER: Does the energy of life-experience catalyst follow the same path?

RA: Yes, and the concepts of life-experience catalyst and the requirements or distortions of the [7 major] energy centers are linked together quite tightly.

QUESTIONER: You mentioned in an earlier session that life-experience catalyst was first experienced by the south pole [R1, root-chakra] and appraised with respect to its survival value. Would you expand on this concept?

RA: There is a filtering process by which in-coming energies are pulled upwards [through the 7 chakras] according to the distortions of each energy center and the individual's own strength of will or desire, [as a result of their] awareness of the inner light [Higher Self].

QUESTIONER: Therefore, the total light-energy that we receive comes in through the feet and the base of the spine. Each energy center then filters out and uses a portion of this energy, red through violet [R1-R7]. Is this correct?

RA: This is largely correct. However, the E entry and upward movement ends with indigo [R6, at the third-eye]. Violet ray is only a thermometer or indicator of the whole. In the fully activated entity, only that small portion of in-streaming light needed to tune each energy center is used, the great remainder being free to be channeled and attracted upwards.

Energy radiation without the necessity of response [in service to others] begins with blue ray. However, since green ray is the great transitional ray, it must be carefully developed. Until energy transfers of all types have been experienced and mastered to a great extent [fully loved and accepted], there will be blockages in the blue and indigo radiations.

Violet ray [R7] is a resource from which intelligent infinity may be contacted, through the indigo ray. It's radiation will not be violet ray but rather green, blue, or indigo -- depending upon the nature of the individual intelligence and intentions. In this case, the green ray radiation will be for healing, blue ray for communication and inspiration, and indigo is the adept's E which is based in faith [being, not doing].

More on Energy Transfers

QUESTIONER: How many possible energy transfers are there between souls?

RA: The number is infinite, for each mind/body/spirit complex is unique.

QUESTIONER: What is an energy transfer between two mind/body/spirit complexes?

RA: 1. The physical energy transfer may be done numerous ways.

2. The second energy transfer of which we would speak is the sexual energy transfer. This takes place upon a non-magical level by all those entities which vibrate green ray active. It is possible, as in the case of this instrument [the channel, Carla] which dedicates itself to the service of the One Infinite Creator, to further refine this energy transfer. When the other-self also dedicates itself in service to the One Infinite Creator, the transfer is doubled. Then the amount of E transferred is dependent only upon the amount of polarized sexual energy created and released [tantra]. There are refinements from this point onward leading to the realm of the high sexual magic.

3. In the realm of the mental bodies there are variations of mental energy transferred. This is, again, dependent upon the knowledge sought and the knowledge offered. The most common mental energy transfer is that of the teacher and pupil. The amount of E is dependent upon the quality of this offering upon the part of the teacher, the purity of the desire to serve, and the quality of information offered and, upon the part of the student, the purity of desire to learn and quality of the mind complex which receives knowledge.

Another form of mental energy transfer is that of the listener and the speaker. When the speaker is experiencing mental/emotional anguish, sorrow, or other mental pain, [there are many] variations possible in this transfer.

4. The spiritual energy transfers are at the heart of all energy transfers as a knowledge of self and other-self as Creator is paramount, and this is spiritual work. The varieties of spiritual energy transfer include those things [related to] the adept.

White Magic and Higher Energy Transfers

QUESTIONER: What creates the groundwork for green, blue, and indigo ray energy transfers? What are the preparations and fundamental requirements for these transfers?

RA: The great key to blue, indigo, and violet energy transfers, is the metaphysical bond called unconditional love. In blue-ray transfer, the quality of love is refined in the fire of honest communication and clarity. This normally much time to accomplish, although there are cases of matings so well refined in past lives, and so well remembered today, that the blue-ray is penetrated at once. Blue ray transfer is of great benefit to the seeker in that all communication is refined, and the eyes of honesty and clarity see a new world. Such is the nature of blue-ray E and sexual union is one way to potentiate and crystallize it.

As we approach indigo-ray transfer we find ourselves in a shadowland. We cannot give you information straight out or plain, for this would be an infringement of your free will. And we cannot speak at all of violet ray transfer, since again, it would be an infringement.

These jewels [the higher chakra energy transfers], though dearly bought, priceless for the seeker and we suggest that in the same way as you normally gain understanding -- using analysis, synthesis, and inspiration -- in just the same way should you approach your partner and evaluate each experience, seeking the jewel.

QUESTIONER: Is the goal of white magic to create a change in group consciousness?

RA: Not necessarily. It is possible for white magic to be worked for the purpose of altering only the self or the place of working. This is done in the knowledge that to aid the self in polarization towards love and light is to aid the planetary vibration [do world service].

The heart of white magic is the experience of the joy of union with the Creator. This joy will of necessity radiate throughout the life experience of the positive adept. It is for this reason that sexual magic is not restricted solely to the negatively oriented adepts, but when most carefully used, also has its place in high [white] magic as can join body, mind, and spirit with the One Infinite Creator, when correctly pursued.

Any purpose [for white magic] which you may frame should take into consideration this basic union with the One Infinite Creator, for this union will result in service-to-others of necessity. As the energy centers become more crystallized during magical workings, the magician becomes more and more that which it seeks.

The Law of One (vol. IV)

Dynamics of Sexual Union

QUESTIONER: When we close an electrical circuit, it is easy to trace the path of current: it just goes along the conductor. What was the path of energy flow before and after the veil?

RA: In a representation of the circuitry of two souls in sexual or other energy transfer, the circuit opens always at the red or base center, and then moves as much as possible up the intervening energy centers. If it is baffled it will stop at orange [R2]; if not, the E shall proceed to yellow [R3]. If still unbaffled, it shall proceed to green [R4]. Before the veiling, each soul's chakras or energy centers could be functioning without "crystallization".

QUESTIONER: Do you mean the centers could be functioning, but would have a "high resistance", and although the circuit [between the two souls in sexual union] would be complete, red through green, the total quantity of E transferred would be less?

RA: Like the concept of voltage, the uncrystallized, lower centers cannot deliver a higher voltage. On the other hand, crystallized centers may become quite remarkable in the high voltage characteristics of the energy transfer as it reaches green ray. As the green ray becomes crystallized, this also applies to the higher energy centers [R5-7], until such energy transfers become an adornment [sacred offering] for the Creator.

QUESTIONER: So, when a transfer takes place, light energy that comes in through the feet and the voltage or potential difference [between the two souls] is measured between the red energy center and, in the case of green ray transfer. Is that correct?

RA: Energy transfers occur in a single release of the potential difference. This does not leap between [the partners] green-ray centers, but instead, involves E sharing of each from red ray upwards. It is most efficient when both entities have orgasm simultaneously.

However, there is transfer if either partner has orgasm, and even without orgasm, if there is love between the partners, a considerable amount of E is transferred due to the energy which has been raised. In this case, both partners need to be aware of this potential E and desire to release the strength of this E to each other by a dedicated act of will. This practice is used to generate energy transfers in religious systems such as Tantra Yoga, although these systems have become quite distorted, with their teachings always half-lost.

QUESTIONER: Is the direction of energy transfer a function of orgasm?

RA: If both partners are well polarized and vibrating in green-ray love, any orgasm shall offer equal energy to both.

QUESTIONER: Why isn't sexual energy transfer always possible?

RA: We will use an analogy of two batteries which are needed to light a flashlight bulb. Two working batteries placed in series will always light the bulb. However, if the two batteries are not placed in series, then they cannot light the bulb. Many souls, through their E blockages after the veiling, have done the equivalent of reversing the battery [and therefore blocked R4 transfer].

QUESTIONER: What is the root cause of these blockages?

RA: The root cause of energy blockage is the lack of the ability to see others as the Creator, or to phrase it differently, the lack of love.

Assessing Your Sexual Experience

QUESTIONER: How can we tell which ray had energy transfer after sexual experience?

RA: There is only a subjective measure of this. If the energies have flowed so that love is made whole, green-ray transfer has taken place. If greater ease in communication and greater sight has been experienced, E has been refined to the blue-ray center. If you find that your faculties of will and faith have been stimulated, not for a brief while but for a great duration of time, you may see indigo-ray transfer. We may not speak of violet-ray transfer except to note that it is an opening to the gateway of intelligent infinity. Indeed, the indigo-ray transfer is also this opening, but "the veil has not yet been lifted".

Sex and the Higher Dimensions

QUESTIONER: What is the ratio of male to female orgasms in early fourth density?

RA: It is meaningless to speak of male/female orgasm in higher densities, since the character and nature of orgasm is more and more naturally a function of the unified mind/body/spirit. In 4th density, the veil is lifted and spiritual choice has been made.

Therefore, in positive polarities true sharing is almost universal. In negative polarities, true blockage is almost universal -- so that the conqueror obtains orgasm, and the conquered almost never. In each case, you may see that sexual experience is a most efficient means of [continued spiritual] polarization [both positive and negative].

QUESTIONER: How are sexual energy transfers related to the non-physical dimensions?

RA: The E involved in sexual energy transfers is a form of vibratory bridge between the physical and the metaphysical dimension. Due to the veiling process, the E transferred from male to female is different than that transferred from female to male. Due to the polarity differences of the mind/body/spirit complexes of male and female [as part of the cosmic plan], the male stores physical E, while the female mental and emotional E.

When 3D [green ray] sexual energy transfer is completed, the male will offers a discharge of physical E. The female is thereby refreshed, [as she normally has] far less physical vitality. At the same time, the female discharges the excess of its own stored mental and emotional E, thereby offering inspiration, healing, and blessing to the male -- who is by nature, normally less vital in this area.
